

The Co-Parenting Class

This document must be served on the respondent with the summons and petition**

Who Should Attend?

- All parents, whether married or never married, who are separating and/or divorcing
- All parents who become involved in the court system (it is mandatory by local rule of court)
- Other family members, interested parties, friends, and future prospective parents

Why is This Important?

The separation/divorce rate is so prevalent in our society it will affect the lives of millions of children. Research indicates that separation and divorce can have a negative impact on children. Information related to the effect of separation/divorce on children and on the effectiveness of co-parenting can minimize the extent to which children may be at risk, and enhance their adjustment.

Focus: The Needs of the Children

- Learn how to reduce parental conflict
- Listen to children's experience of their parent's divorce
- Consider different post-separation parenting relationships
- Enhance your child/children's adjustment to parental separation or divorce through improved co-parenting
- Keep children out of the middle and protect them from parental conflict

Locations:

Please note Child care will NOT be provided. Please do not bring your children. Please do not bring food or drink. Punctuality is IMPERATIVE. Doors will be locked & latecomers will need to attend another class.
